

Weeks 12 & 13 – PCC and Mountain View Results

Gents,

Here we go on a wild ride across 2 weeks where the scoring has gotten blistering hot and the competition has intensified for the OOM crown. Congrats to the many who have posted sub par rounds these last 2 weeks. First up is Princeton Country Club, one of my favorite venues for league play due to the walk on strategy. Too bad I missed it (thanks to 2 outings that week... ugh). The guys who made it though went crazy 2 weekends ago. In fact if you shot 68 you didn't make the podium and a net 64 finished second. Ridiculous. First place went to Dave McC who has shown a penchant to go real low every once in a while and boy did he shooting a 94 net 60 to dominate the field and post the lowest net round of the year so far. Poor Mullet shot a 78 net 64 and had to settle for second. Breaking 80 and not winning just ain't right... even for Mullet. Third place went to the smoldering hot Faucet. Joe has been posting round after round in the mid to low 80's lately and his 85 net 67 scored him a bonus point 2 weeks ago. Hard luck 3rd went to the net 68 posted by Lance. Is anyone more snake bit in terms of low rounds not good enough to podium than Lance. Seems like every year this happens to him at least twice. I feel your pain Lance!!! Of course it wasn't as much pain as Levy felt bringing home that 116 net 82, but that is a story for another day...

So what can the league do to top that week you ask... Well the boys practically repeated it. Yup, net 64 finished second (again), and you had to post net 68 or better to podium. Holy bring your A game Batman. Now we've never seen this before and it has almost led to the handicap committee taking extraordinary measures, but after an investigation we have opted not to. Why the commotion you ask. Cause Dave McC did it again. This time shooting 95 net 61 and going 11 shots under net par (after his handicap came down a full point). With a 3rd round in the 90's in his last 8 played one has to wonder if the old handicap is accurate. We have revised his index with this new score in tow and it is now down to 30 for this week... As you might imagine Dave has made a big move up the order climbing from 29th to 18th. This week's jilted second place player was The Sheriff shooting 93 net 64 and falling 4 strokes short of the victory. Looks like he is ready to carry Mullet in their rescheduled 4-ball match on Friday after all... 3rd place went to Tony C (who also needs his index to catch up to him a bit) and his 87 net 67. Hard luck 4th went to Ed L and his 103 net 69. Now I have to take a moment to knock the most interesting man in the world down a few pegs. I've been hearing a lot about him lately on the radio with all those radio spots. You know the ones where they say if he were the last man left on earth the human race would still have a chance. Well not if he had to play golf to survive... My partner in crime in a 4 ball match to be named later is having a difficult time of it these days. Dos Equis posted a 125 net 91 this week and yes finished dead last in his second straight start. Keep the faith there Dos Equis, we still love the beer and the swing will come around soon...I'll bet right before we take on Erway and Newman...

There you have it. 2 weeks of pretty torrid golf. The tour turns to the links layout of MOE this week as we celebrate America, the YGS, beer, and great golf/ Good luck to everyone getting out there this week and keep getting those matches in everyone. Hope you all have a happy and healthy 4th.
