

Week 19 – Results from The Open Day

Gents,

A week late but our first major of the year must get its due. The Open day was another tremendous event. A true celebration of the Yuengling spirit. With a full 34 participants it was one of our best attended events ever (If not its longest). With TimE and Bruce nowhere to be found the gross event came down to past member and Open Champion Evo and a guest of XLP (who is definitely tour material) named John R. Mr. R came to the View and walked away with our Open Championship Trophy posting an amazing 76 gross. I don't know about you guys but I lost my chance at that number with a 4 over par opening hole... Must be nice to own a Major before you ever even join the tour. At any rate this left the Classic event to be played among us plebes with double digit handicaps and it was a battle to the finish. Some good golf was turned in by our winner and his 3 chasers at the Open. XLP (for the 3rd time BTW) was the Classic winner this year, shooting a solid 86 net 66 to take the event by two strokes. Perhaps he was inspired by his guest's amazing play. Whatever it was it worked. XLP also wins his second classic of the year and moves into 6th place in the order. Could another run at the green jacket be in the offing for OB. My crystal softball says no!

The guys who just missed the top spot in the classic were Tony C, who is very quietly having a solid campaign. And Little Buddy, who has difficulty with the quiet thing but is having a pretty damned good season of his own, "Right Bobby"! Tony shot an 86 net 68 and Little Buddy got his net 68 with a 91. Both men have podium-ed multiple times in Classic events this year with LB reaching a league leading 3rd Classic Podium this week and now moves within 8 points of the OOM lead.

Hard luck 4th went to the Newmanator and his net 69. One stroke, one missed put, one bad lie. It just doesn't seem fair now does it. The difference between 6 points and a measly 2. I've been there. Sniff, sniff, and it SUCKS. Oh well good thing for Newman he has some pepperoni and cheese to cheer him up, and aint that a wonderful thing.

So it was a good week for the tour and an even better one for those of us looking for an OOM race that comes right down to the wire.

CD

Week 19 – Results from The Open Day

Mountain View
Par	72
Slope	121
Rating	70

Name	Course Handicap	Gross	Net	OOM Points
XLP	20	86	66	8
Tony C	18	86	68	6
Little Buddy	23	91	68	6
Newman	27	96	69	2
Ed L	34	106	72	2
Link-me	14	87	73	2
Commissioner	17	90	73	2
The Skipper	25	98	73	2
Bruni	28	101	73	2
Mullet	14	88	74	2
Trooper D	24	98	74	2
MG	15	90	75	2
Amish Boy	17	92	75	2
Wilks	19	94	75	2
DiCo	16	92	76	2
The Sherrif	29	105	76	2
Craino	34	110	76	2
Los	13	93	80	2
Eduardo	16	96	80	2
Scott L	34	122	88	2
Dos Equis	34	138	104	2

Week 19 – Results from The Open Day

Position	Pub Name	Handicap	Points
1	Eddie	15	43
2	Little Buddy	19	35
3	Mullet	13	34
4	Newman	26	31
4	Skipper	23	31
6	XL Presidente	19	30
7	Pee-tah	24	26
7	Tony	17	26
9	Bruni	29	24
10	The Faucet	17	23
10	MG	14	23
12	Sherriff	27	22
12	Matt D	21	22
14	Linke	13	21
15	Paul M	28	20
15	Carlos	12	20
17	Lance	23	19
18	Ed L	32	18
19	Wilks	19	17
19	Commissioner	16	17
19	Tim-e-way	8	17
22	DiCo	16	16
22	Chris D	16	16
24	Dos Equis	32	15
25	David McC	30	14
26	Rich McD	29	11
26	Rainman	12	11
28	Crano	32	9
28	Scott L	32	9
28	Swanny	10	9
31	Trooper D	23	7
23	The Dyke	19	5