

Week 27 – Results From Another Great Week at Peddie

GoTT,

I think the feeling is fairly consistent throughout the tour that it has been a real treat to have been able to play Peddie a couple of times this year, unless of course you spent a good amount of time in the rough in which case it may not have been so pleasant. In this particular week we were also lucky to avoid the rain that has been plaguing recent weeks. SO thanks again to Swanny for making it happen.

Now onto the results. Forgive me if I start with matchplay but we had two of the quarterfinals played this weekend and one of them actually went 36 holes. How you ask? Well, apparently Mullet, Tony C, Hamlet, and the Commissioner were so collectively slow on Friday that after finishing 18 all square, Tony and Mullet found themselves out of daylight and out of time. Well I don't blame them for coming back for more on Sunday. So with both of them spending ample time in the rough it was Tony who was the last man standing as a second match went to 18 and after 36 holes Tony took the match by the score of 1 up. Tony now waits the winner of the Eddie vs. Tim-e-way match which can't happen until Eddie returns from his vacation next week. In the other match that happened this weekend Skipper's run was ended by the lone rookie left in the matchplay competition as Wilks won by a score of 4 and 3. Wilks is awaiting the winner of the match between defending Champion Matt D and XLP being played this week.

Now onto the OOM event. With Eddie not able to avoid his Friday Jury Duty and thus out of the event the door was wide open for Little Buddy and Mullet to close the gap by several points. Unfortunately that did not happen. Despite playing some decent golf LB finished just off the podium on a week that saw 21 rounds played in a non-classic October event (unheard of!). There was some good news to report however. I can selfishly and happily say that the sun does shine on a dogs a$$ once in a while.

As many of you know I have been suffering through what might be my worst campaign on tour. I'm not playing enough and in short have played very poorly when compared to years past. Well for one day that has changed. On one occasion this season I had just enough to win a tour stop, and that day was Saturday. DiCo shoots 88 net 70 and was fortunate enough to be the only member to shoot under net par and thus win the event and climb out of a personally embarrassing 20 something'th place on the order. Yay me - finally!

Second place was then a three way tie among the commish (90), Wilks (93) and Hamlet (104) who all posted net par over the weekend. That left the frustrated party of Little Buddy just one stroke back of the podium... I know we each walk off of 18 thinking back sometimes to the 2 or 3 we left out there, but when the green jacket is on the line, perhaps even more-so. Eddie is out again this week as he returns from vacation too late Sunday to play. That leaves the yawning gap a calling. Is LB really not going to play Meadows this week? We'll just have to see now won't we...

Good luck to all this week. For those of you that missed it, the revision took place over the weekend. If you have not already done so, please get your scoring record up to date and make sure you put the correct date you played down when you post the score so it can be handled appropriately by the USH system. EVERYONE, whether involved in anything high stakes or not now, should have scoring records up to date so a fair and just outcome can be had at every event down the stretch. With 4 events remaining we still have 3 guys who can mathematically win it all.
